

Declaration of Dr. George R. Brown, MD, DFAPA

I, Dr. George R. Brown, MD declare under penalty of perjury the following:

1. I am a medical doctor who is Board Certified in Psychiatry. I serve on the faculty of the East Tennessee State University Quillen College of Medicine, where I currently hold the position of Professor of Psychiatry and the Associate Chairman for Veterans Affairs. I also hold a teaching appointment related to my expertise with transgender healthcare and research at the University of North Texas, Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine. I currently have privileges to provide transgender health care and training at one Federal Bureau of Prison facility in the Dallas-Forth Worth area. For three decades, my research has focused principally on the study of transgender health. I have been involved in the clinical evaluation of patients with Gender Dysphoria (GD) for approximately thirty years. Further, since 1990, I have served on the World Professional Association for Transgender Health (WPATH) Committee to Revise the Standards of Care, and I was a coauthor of the current version of the Standards of Care, Version 7 (2011). Attached to this declaration as Exhibit 1 is my CV.

2. At the request of her counsel, I reviewed Deon Hampton's medical records (I will refer to this inmate as Strawberry Hampton, using female pronouns, as this is her preferred name and pronoun set). This review included records from Hill Correctional Center, Lawrence Correctional Center, Pinckneyville Correctional Center, and Menard Correctional Center. (Exhibit 2). I also conducted a one hour and 3 minute phone interview with Ms. Hampton; however, the interview took place under less than ideal conditions. Ms. Hampton reported that there were six correctional officers in close proximity to her and they could overhear everything she said. Despite these limitations, the phone interview confirmed much of what was documented in the documents I reviewed regarding both her medical condition and her experiences while incarcerated.

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS

3. As further explained below, given Ms. Hampton's conditions, there is no medical justification for continuing to house her in a men's prison. To the contrary, continued housing in a men's prison will seriously compromise Ms. Hampton's mental health and prevent her from receiving adequate treatment for her gender dysphoria (GD). In a men's prison, she has been prevented from accessing even the basic necessities for social transition, a critical part of treatment for GD, whereas in a women's prison, she would have access to the same items as similarly situated female inmates.

4. To the extent that Illinois Department of Correctional officials rely on the fact that Ms. Hampton has not yet had sex reassignment surgery to justify her continued placement in a men's prison, this position conflicts with all reliable medical literature. As explained further below, given her hormone levels, Ms. Hampton is functionally chemically castrated and is not capable of obtaining an erection.

5. I hold the opinions stated above—and throughout this declaration—to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, and I reserve the right to amend those opinions or conclusions should additional information become available.

BACKGROUND AND MEDICAL CONDITIONS

6. Ms. Hampton is a 26-year-old heterosexual transgender woman, assigned male at birth, and who is housed in a men's prison, Menard Correctional Center. Ms. Hampton reports that she began identifying as a female at the age of five and began dressing as a female at the age of eleven. Her family and community treated her as a girl from that point forward, and referred to her with her preferred female name, Strawberry, and addressing her with female pronouns.

Ms. Hampton intermittently took un-prescribed hormones during her teen years but did not take a dose consistent enough to feminize her body to bring it into closer alignment with her female gender identity. She lived exclusively as a female for years prior to her incarceration, including wearing female clothing and undergarments. As reported to me, she stated “I always identify as a woman.”

7. In 2012, Ms. Hampton was diagnosed with gender dysphoria by an IDOC psychiatrist. Based on her medical records and my interview with her, I have no reason to doubt the accuracy of that diagnosis. Her description of her symptoms, response to medically necessary cross-sex hormonal treatment, and medical record information are all confirmatory of this diagnosis. In 2015, the records show that Ms. Hampton told mental health professionals at Hill Correctional Center that she was not transgender. However, the documents also show that in May 2016, Ms. Hampton clarified to a mental health professional at Lawrence Correctional Center that she does not identify as transgender, as she simply considers herself a female. In my experience, this type of identification as the opposite gender, rather than the label “transgender,” is relatively common amongst individuals who are diagnosed with long-standing gender dysphoria since childhood. Furthermore, Ms. Hampton states she has always identified as a woman, but understands that others may consider her to be transgender.

8. In May 2016, Ms. Hampton expressed to a mental health professional at Lawrence Correctional Center that she was interested in beginning cross-sex hormone treatment (CSH). In July 2016, she began taking Estradiol and Aldactone. After an initial titration period and subsequent dose changes, based on her dosage levels and most recent lab results (March, 2017: Testosterone <3 ng/dL; August, 2017: Testosterone 6 ng/dL), Ms. Hampton has been receiving appropriate CSH treatment which has reduced her testosterone level to virtually nil. My interview with her also supports the fact that she has the typical psychological and physical changes associated with CSH in birth sex males. Prior to being housed at Menard Correctional Center, she also received psychosocial supports as part of her treatment, as recommended and approved by the Gender Dysphoria Committee on 5/20/16 (specifically, individualized psychotherapy for GD and GD Group psychotherapy). Those medically necessary services have been discontinued as a result of her current housing. I also learned from my interview that Ms. Hampton has had an unexplained interruption in her CSH for the 2 weeks prior to my interview and that these critical medications had not been restarted as of the time of the interview. I have previously documented the potentially serious deleterious effects of abrupt discontinuation of medically necessary CSH on incarcerated persons with GD (see Brown, Autocastration and autopenectomy as surgical self-treatment in incarcerated persons with gender identity disorder, International Journal of Transgenderism, 12(1):31-39, 2010. DOI: 10.1080/15532731003688970).

9. Ms. Hampton's most recent lab results from August 2017 indicate that her testosterone levels are currently at 6 ng/dL, and the prior values were similarly near zero in March, 2017. The normal reference range for testosterone levels in birth sex males is 300-1080 ng/dL. Her current level is considered "castrate" in that she has virtually no circulating testosterone, similar to males who have been surgically castrated. Generally, when a patient's total and free testosterone levels are in the castrate range the following physical changes occur: penile shrinkage, significant testicular shrinkage, complete erectile dysfunction, lack of semen production and ejaculation, and potentially irreversible infertility. Consistent with her hormone levels, Ms. Hampton reports that she has experienced all of these changes with her body and genitals. According to Ms. Hampton, she is unable to obtain an erection or ejaculate and has experienced decreased testicle size as a result of her hormone treatment. Ms. Hampton views these results as very positive and are part of her goals for successful CSH treatment, which is one component of adequate medical care for GD.

10. According to the medical records and my interview, Ms. Hampton is attracted exclusively to men. She reported to the IDOC's Gender Identity Disorder Committee in May 2016, before she even began taking hormones, that she was only able to obtain penile erections from being with men. As reported to me, she stated "I would never have sex with a woman, and I never had sex with a woman in my life."

MS. HAMPTON'S HOUSING SITUATION'S EFFECT ON HER MENTAL HEALTH

11. Currently, Ms. Hampton is housed in a segregation unit in a maximum security prison. I had to verify this placement, as she has not been convicted of a violent crime to my knowledge, and I was not sure why she is being held in the most secure prison in the State of Illinois. She is experiencing extreme distress, anxiety, and depression. In her current facility, she is not able to present herself as female (consistent with her gender identity) as she has for most of her life and for all of her preincarceration adult life. As a result she states "I feel inhuman." She is able to grow her hair longer, but noted that "they cut it with a knife and it's not even shoulder length now." She is not able to grow her nails longer based on IDOC policies for male inmates, by her report. Because of her housing placement, IDOC denies her access to the psychosocial supports that are necessary to treat gender dysphoria disorder, for example access to the Transgender Support Group that she was able to access earlier in her incarceration. The only treatment the IDOC is currently providing to Ms. Hampton is cross-sex hormone treatment. While she was previously issued a sports-type bra by IDOC, this bra was cut off her body during an incident in a shower involving multiple corrections officers that is still being investigated by IDOC in Springfield. She reports that she has never been issued a new bra, in spite of having breasts and in spite of being approved for a bra previously. She reported to me that she is using an old bra that she got from another inmate.

12. This lack of access to basic medically necessary services for the treatment of GD violates the standard of care for transgender inmates—simply prescribing medication is insufficient, even when it is provided on a consistent basis. Like many other medical conditions, medication alone is insufficient to treat GD. For example, insulin alone does not adequately treat diabetes, and it is necessary to treat this condition with multiple interventions to include special diets, attention to exercise, access to diabetes educators/counselors, and often specialized garments. This analogy applies to the multimodal treatment of GD as well. Ms. Hampton is in substantial distress from her undertreated gender dysphoria, which is compounded by the reported conditions in the segregation unit and the abuse and trauma she has survived while in IDOC custody. Ms. Hampton's symptoms of anxiety and depression are most likely associated with her primary diagnosis of gender dysphoria, and not free-standing psychiatric conditions.

13. At Menard, Ms. Hampton is persistently mis-gendered by correctional and medical staff. That is, she is repeatedly, persistently, and abusively called by male pronouns in spite of common knowledge by all staff that she is a transgender woman, with breasts and a female gender identity. Ms. Hampton's medical and disciplinary records primarily use male pronouns when referring to her. This misgendering is harmful to her mental health because it humiliates and degrades Ms. Hampton. In Ms. Hampton's case, the use of male pronouns serves to further exacerbate her gender dysphoria, including symptoms of low self-esteem, thoughts of self-harm, anxiety and depression.

14. While housed in segregation at Pinckneyville, the records show that she lost 34 pounds between May 24, 2017, and July 10, 2017. She reports to me that this weight loss was not intentional and was not associated with any significant exercise, especially given that she is locked down 24 hours a day and does not feel that she can use the yard for the two blocks of time allotted a week. She is most fearful of the corrections officers and not the other inmates, and she described to me a long list of abuses (physical, sexual, and verbal) that she has reportedly suffered at the hands of the officers. With respect to the other inmates, she reports some occasional verbal abuse, but is quick to note that “I have 28 witnesses for me who have signed affidavits or are willing to testify for me” on her pending 5/17 claim of being assaulted by a number of officers. This demonstrates that even though Pinckneyville and Menard have been keeping her separate from other male inmates, which appears to be of minor significance, she is not thriving in her current housing situation. During her extended placement in segregation, she has suffered from a number of mental health crises. She requested a crisis cell eight times in nine months and she had five crisis evaluations over the course of four weeks. She has shown clear signs of psychiatric deterioration, including a significant increase in gender dysphoria, anxiety and depression. In order to address these psychiatric symptoms, she has been placed on lithium. The rationale for this medication selection eludes me, even after a thorough review of the records. Furthermore, the blood levels of this medication have been so low as to be of no therapeutic value, even if the medication selection were documented to be appropriate. Prior to her placement in segregation, she did not display these types of mental health symptoms and she did not require any sort of psychiatric medication, which suggests that Ms. Hampton does not adapt well to segregation, whether or not it is for her own “protection.”

15. In conclusion, I reiterate that there is no medical justification for Ms. Hampton's continued placement in a men's prison and that a continuation in her current placement will cause her more serious harm and put her at risk of suffering lifelong consequences—including but not limited to acts of self-harm, post-traumatic stress disorder, and the consequences of undertreated gender dysphoria. She is currently not receiving adequate, medically necessary care for her serious medical condition, Gender Dysphoria.

The opinions I express above are based on my knowledge and experience and were developed by analyzing the medical records that have been provided to me. I reserve the right to change or modify my opinions should additional evidence become available. Pursuant to 28 USC 1746, I declare, certify, verify, and state on this day, under penalty of perjury that the forgoing is true and correct.
